[In the records of Surry county, Va., is an entry stating that whereas Mrs. Mary Ewens, by power of attorney, June 30, 1659, had given authority to Mr. Francis Newton, or his substitutes, to take possession of a plantation, &c., in Virginia, belonging to her, and the said Francis Newton substituted his brother Nicholas Newton (now dead) and Richard Hopkins as his attorneys, by an instrument dated June 30, 1659. Mrs. Ewens owned in Virginia 7 negroes, 50 head of cattle, 15 hogs and other personal property. Francis Newton was a London merchant, trading to Virginia. See his will in this Magazine, XVIII, 80. The will in the text is one of not infrequent instances where masters of English merchant ships trading to Virginia owned plantations in the Colony. Most of these masters, however, like William Ewens, did not long live in the Colony. Greenwich was a more congenial place for a sailor than a plantation in Surry county.]

Taking into consideration the long and dangerous journey that I intend shortly God willing to take into the Island of Barbados.
