9 Aug 1732; Robert Carter, Lancaster Co.; accts. rec. (La Deeds & Wills 12.216-LOV)

Tombstone of Betty Carter, Christ Church: To the memory of Betty Carter, second wife of Robert Carter, Esq. Youngest daughter of Sir Thomas Langdon and Mary his wife of Grednal, in the country of Hereford, England, the ancient seat of the family and place of her nativity. She bore her husband 10 children, five sons and five daughters, three of whom, Sarah, Betty and Ludlowe, died before her and are buried near here. She was a person of great and exemplary piety and charity in every relation in which she stood, whether considered as a Christian, a wife, a mother, a mistress, a neighbor, or a friend, her conduct was equally by few, excelled by none. She changed this life for a better on ye 3rd July, 1710, in the 36th year of her age, and the ninth of her marriage. May her descendants make their mother's virtues and graces the pattern of their lives and actions.

Tombstone of Robert Carter, Christ Church: Here lies buried Robert Carter, Esq., an honourable man, who by noble endowments and pure morals gave lustre to his gentle birth. Rector of William and Mary, he sustained that institution in its most trying times. He was Speaker of the House of Burgesses, and Treasurer under the most serene Princes William, Anne, George I and II. Elected by the House its Speaker six years, and Governor of the Colony for more than a year, he upheld equally the regal dignity and the public freedom. Possessed of ample wealth, blamelessly acquired, he built and endowed, at his own expense, this sacred edifice - a signal monument of his piety toward God. He furnished it richly. Entertaining his friends kindly, he was neither a prodigal nor a parsimonious host. His first wife was Judith, daughter of John Armistead, Esq.; his second Betty, a descendant of the noble family of Landons. By these wives he had many children, on whose education he expended large sums of money. At length, full of honours and of years, when he had performed all the duties of an exemplary life, he departed from this world on the 4th day of August, in the 69th year of his age. The unhappy lament their lost comforter, the widows their lost protector, and the orphans their lost father."
