KINDRED FAMILIES

This great disappointment and others it is hoped will not curtail the value of the work, and in the future work conducted in our direction may be limited to take up the work and bring it to a more completed conclusion. This date is being placed in the foreword in respect of the age and full health of the author and the work had some others were interested, and a grade collection could be prepared at some

Every member of our family line should be very grateful to the Editors, A. S. Reynolds and Mrs. John Ross Reynolds for the edition that each has manifested in the collection of family history to be placed before the public. The family of Reynolds, of Nevada, through interesting history in the Fewells, Walls, Reynolds and the lines they represent. The family of Reynolds and the lines they represent are engaged in a similar work.

Family tradition places our earliest Reynolds in Pennsylvania the Walls upon the eastern shore of Maryland the Fewells and probably the Fewells also in Maryland. The earliest record of the Fewells is that of Henry Fewell, making a deed in 1720 to John Skinner, in Albemarle County, Virginia, and in 1721 we find Henry Fewell making a deed to property in King George County, Virginia, and a Benjamin Fewell records a deed in the same county. There were also two James Fewells in Spotsylvania County, Va., one record about 1750, the other being James, the son of John Fewell, in 1786. The Fewells, as it is spelled on the Confederate Movement, were from James County, Va.

INTRODUCTORY

The following collection of genealogical data has been made for gratuitous distribution among the kindred who represent the different families and for the preservation and perpetuation of an ancestry that is worthy of our respect, love and admiration.

Many mistakes and imperfections will be found in its pages. It is far short of the expectations and wishes of the undersigned, inasmuch as it has been impossible to trace our family line back to the date of their landing upon American shores. My inability to find the Fewell ancestor who married Eliza Colvin has been especially disappointing. This ancestor was a resident of Culpeper County, Va., about 1780, but the most careful and painstaking research has failed to disclose the name.

This great disappointment and others it is hoped will not destroy the value of the work, and in the future some descendant of our ancestors may be incited to take up the work and bring it to a more successful conclusion. This data is being closed in its imperfect state on account of the age and ill health of its author and the fear that none others were interested, and a crude collection would be preferable to none.

Every member of our family lines should be very grateful to Mrs. Malinda A. Robinson and Mrs. Lena Rook Reynolds for the untiring zeal that each has manifested in the collection of family history to be recorded and published for our information. The former, of Nevada, Missouri, interesting herself in the Fewells, Walls, Lindsays and the lines they represent. The latter of Franklin, Tenn., in the Reynolds and the lines they represent. No one can fully appreciate their efforts, except those engaged in a similar work.

Family tradition places our earliest Reynolds in Pennsylvania; the Walls upon the eastern shore of Maryland; the Lindsays and probably the Vernons also in Maryland. The earliest record of the Fewells is that of Henry Fewell, making a deed in 1720 to John Skinner, in Richmond, County, Virginia, and in 1721 we find Henry Fewell making a deed to property in King George County, Virginia, and a Benjamin Fewell recorded in the same county. There were also two James Fewells in Spottsylvania County, Va., one record about 1750, the other being James, the son of John Fewell, in 1786. The Boughans, as it is spelled on the Confederate Monument, were from Essex County, Va.

Before coming to this country, the Reynolds were from England; the Walls from the same; the Lindsays probably from Scotland; the Boughans not-known and the Fewells from Wales.

With these few lines of explanation as a foreword this work is submitted without further excuse or apology.

NOTES

It has been the common understanding, that George Reynolds, the head of our line, was from Pennsylvania, or his father was. It is very probable that he and other members of the family came to Virginia and lingered awhile in Orange County, Va., about the year 1754, as there appears a record of a lease of land to Richard Reynolds from John Spottswood during the lives of Richard Spencer and George Reynolds from John Spottswood during the lives of Richard Spencer and George Reynolds. We have no verification of this George being our ancestor, but we find the names of Richard ^{and} Spencer in the Census of 1782-85 of Pittsylvania county, Va., and our ancestor, George Reynolds, living and marrying in the same community in 1779. In 1809, or about that time, our ancestor moved to Williamson county, Tenn., and we find a Richard and a Spencer Reynolds also residents of the same county, indicating that the influence of relationship influenced them to make their homes in the same localities.

In the ninth annual report of the Virginia State Library, we find the following record: "George Reynolds, 1st Lieutenant, commissioned August 1780, by court, under P. Hairston, from Henry, Va., Caroline county." We feel justified in believing this is our ancestor, the Caroline county being the only confusing factor that raises any doubt. George Reynolds, of our line, was a resident of Henry county, Va., at the time, and P. Hairston was also living in Henry, or just across the line in Pittsylvania county, and, so far as possible to ascertain, there is no Henry in Caroline county, Va. The record at Bowling Green, the county seat of Caroline were destroyed, making it impossible to verify the fact.

George Reynolds, the head of our line, married Susanna Lansford, daughter of Henry and Catherine Lansford, of Pittsylvania, June 12, 1779. Henry Lansford must have died in 1777, as his will was probated Jan. 22, 1778, and his widow, Catherine, signed the permit for her daughter, Susanna to marry our ancestor. About 1809, George Reynolds moved to Williamson county, Tenn. Two of his daughters, Elizabeth and Susanna, having married, the first to Richard Hughes, Nov. 24, 1796, the second to James Hughes, Jan. 25, 1803, and I take it that these families and the pryors, Stones, Perkins, and others, went at the same time. Our ancestor died in Williamson county, Tenn., about 1813.

Thomas Reynolds, son of George and Susanna Reynolds, was a soldier of the Republican party, contributing many articles under the name of "Justice" to the political organs of the party; recently State Chairman, in the War of 1812, and served under General Jackson in the Creek Indian war, 1813-14; was severely wounded in Alabama in the latter war and was carried home by two of his brothers in a surry wagon, surviving a wound from a bullet that first passed through his watch, carrying the glass and works into his body, from where they were extracted by passing a silk handkerchief through the wound, the bullet going through the body, the glass and works of the watch would adhere to the handkerchief and were removed.

Pryor Reynolds, son of George and Susanna Reynolds, moved to Tennessee in 1809, living in Williamson county until 1819. He then moved to Lawrence county, Alabama, where he resided until 1827, when he moved to Rockingham county, North Carolina, in the neighborhood of where he was reared. Two children, Elizabeth and Martha, died in childhood. Pryor Reynolds passed the remainder of his days at his home near the town of Draper, where he died Oct. 5, 1858. He was buried in the family graveyard, where also rests the remains of his wife. Pryor Reynolds was probably named after some member of the Pryor family.

John Reynolds, son of Pryor, lived and died in the town of Leakesville, N. C., being a large and successful merchant.

George Reynolds, son of Pryor, died on his return from a visit to his first wife's kin in Forsyth county, at the home of his brother, James T. Reynolds, near Madison, N. C.

James T. Reynolds lived on his farm on the South of Dan River, two miles from Madison, being the home of William Fewell before he moved West. James T. Reynolds was a farmer, and served a term in the General Assembly of North Carolina just before the Civil War. He died in 1904, and was buried in the family graveyard, where also rests the remains of his first wife's mother, Elizabeth Dearing (Wall) Fewell.

Dr. Thomas Reynolds began the practice of his profession in Madison but afterwards moved to Leakesville. After being forced to abandon his practice on account of ill health, he went into the mercantile business. He died at Leakesville in 1872, was buried in the Episcopal cemetery beside the remains of his wife, who preceded him a little over a year.

Pryor Reynolds, son of Pryor, lived and died in Leakesville, was private Secretary to Governor Morehead; served in the General Assembly of North Carolina; was assistant quartermaster in Civil War, and a successful merchant up to a few years of his death; buried in the Lawson graveyard at Leakesville, N. C.

Samuel M. Reynolds was reared in or near Leakesville, N. C., where he married and lived until the birth of his first son. He moved to Henry county, Mo., where he successfully farmed until his death. Killed at Lone Jack, Mo., while serving in the Confederate Army.

Charles A. Reynolds, son of Dr. Reynolds, graduate of Princeton University, New Jersey; Lieutenant Governor 1897-1901, and presiding officer of North Carolina senate; prominent in the political councils of the Republican party, contributing many articles under the name of "Justice" to the political organs of the party; recently State Chairman, and at present Republican Committeeman from North Carolina to the National Republican Committee. Born in Madison, reared in Leakesville, and since 1882 resident of Winston-Salem.

T. E. Reynolds, son of Dr. Reynolds, born in Leakesville, lived there until 1882, when he moved to Winston-Salem; bought farm on Deep River, four miles south of Colfax, where he lived until a few years ago, when he sold his farm, lives in St. Petersburg, Florida, and Leakesville, N. C.

John F. Reynolds, son of Dr. Reynolds, born in Leakesville, where he lived until 1882. Moved to Winston-Salem, N. C. Graduate of Dick and Dillard Law School; member of General Assembly of North Carolina, 1889, and North Carolina Senate, 1891. Living at present at Wentworth, N. C.

Our ancestor, Henry Lansford, probably lived on the South Fork of Sandy River, as the records show that his son, Isham, executor of his father's will in making deed to Samuel Mosely for 263 acres of land on both sides of the south fork of Sandy River except one acre for grave yard. Deed executed April 18, 1784. Henry and Catherine's children were: Isham, Henry, Elijah, Catherine, Josiah and Susanna. Isham died in Pittsylvania county, Va., about 1826. Henry, Jr., went to Oglethorpe, Ga., about 1812. Susanna married George Reynolds and died in Williamson county, Tenn., some time after the death of her husband, in 1813.

Wm. Henly Stone moved from Maryland to Pittsylvania county, Va., in 1779; served in Revolutionary Army from Pittsylvania county; married first, Jane Payne Harrison, daughter of Wm. Harrison; married second, Mrs. Elizabeth Perkins Pryor, daughter of Col. Peter Perkins and widow of John Pryor, their children being Peter and Green Pryor. Moved to Williamson county, Tenn., their daughter, Mary Stone, marrying Richard Reynolds, son of George Reynolds, June, 1820.

NOTES

Zachariah Fewell was the first Representative from Benton county to the General Assembly of Missouri. Was Colonel in the U. S. Army from 1818 to 1820. He died in Benton county, Mo., July 25, 1842.

Sarah (Odineal) Fewell, daughter of John Odineal, and sister of Ebenezer P. Milton, John Haywood, Matilda and Mary Jane Odineal. Ebenezer Odineal married Rosamond Dearing, daughter of William and Mary Dearing, from Orange county, Va., originally, but moved to Rockingham County, N. C., and located on Belows Creek on the south side of Dan River, where they are buried. Their children moved to Tuscaloosa, Ala., about 1830. William Dearing was evidently related to Anthony Desring, who married Elizabeth Vernon, daughter of Richard and Sarah Vernon, and from Elizabeth (Vernon) Dearing comes the family name of "Elizabeth Dearing" that runs through so many generations of both the Walls and Fewells. Anthony Dearing was in North Carolina at the early period of 1778 and purchased land in Stokes county on the upper Beaver Island Creek, but I can find no record of the disposal of the land, or of any descendant. It is very probable that he moved to some other state.

(4) Mason Conner Fewell, born Jan. 30, 1797, in Culpeper county, Va., came to North Carolina with his parents in the spring of 1797; married his first cousin, Melinda Lindsay Wall, and located on the east side of Beaver Island Creek and the north side of Dan River, about three-fourth of a mile west of Madison, N. C. Four children.

Linnie A., Born Sept. 3, 1858; married Dr. Joseph F. Robinson, son of Col. Jehu and Julia Ann (Oglesby) Robinson. He was born in Tennessee in 1812, she in Kentucky in 1822. Dr. J. F. Robinson, born Feb. 15, 1847; married Nov. 14, 1878. Graduate of Missouri State University, class 1870, entered Medical College in St. Louis. Prosecuted the study of his profession at Jefferson College, Philadelphia, and in New York. Was appointed superintendent of the State Hospital No. 3, at Nevada, Mo., where he devoted twelve years of his life to the unfortunate inmates under his care. Has now retired to private life to look after the many investments of himself and wife, being among the wealthiest holders of property in that section of the State. No issue. Died April 9, 1921.

Undrel F., born May 2, 1861; died July 6, 1861.

Few men experienced more hardships than the subject of this sketch. Full of the adventurous spirit of a splendid manhood, he, with others, went across the continent to California in the exciting days of 1849. Failing to enrich themselves, they returned by way of the Isthmus of Panama. They crossed over to the Atlantic side, took vessel to be shipwrecked later, and finally picked up and landed at Savannah, Georgia; embarked again for New Orleans; took vessel up the Mississippi River, reaching home after the lapse of many months, when hopes of his being alive were abandoned. During the Civil War the Federal forces destroyed his hotel in Missouri. He moved to Arkansas and the Federals destroyed his property again. After the war he moved to Texas and passed the latter part of his days, we hope, happily and peacefully. NOTES

The first record of Zachariah Wall, son of Robert, is the purchase sale of 300 acres of land in "The great Fork of Rapahamock River in Culpeper County, Va. He is recorded, from the Province of Maryland, this being in 1774. This record authenticates the family tradition or history, that he was originally from the eastern shore of Maryland, that his wife Annie Everett, inherited property from her father, Richard Everett, and was engaged for some time in the household of Robert Wall, sewing or light household work. Zachariah Wall, in 1797, with his family (excepting William) and probably other friends, moved to Rockingham County, N. C., in the vicinity of Madison, N. C., where he accumulated much property, dying in the year 1816. All of the above descendants, with the exception of William Wall, who married Ann Eliza Fewell, lived and died in North Carolina around the homes and in the neighborhood of their ancestors. James M. Wall, son of Zachariah (III), is also a wanderer from his people, living in Twin Falls, Idaho.

In 1839, Richard Wall, son of Zachariah 1st, with his family and many other relations and friends, moved out to Missouri in Henry and Johnson Counties. The data of whose families will appear in this list of family lines.

Richard Wall married Susan Vernon, daughter of Richard and Susan Vernon, in Culpeper County, Va. Richard Vernon had several daughters and probably sons. Anthony Dearing married Elizabeth Vernon and was probably one of the first to come to North Carolina from Culpeper, as we find him as witness to a land deal in March, 1778, and also the purchaser of a grant of land on both sides of Beaver Island Creek, November, 1784. This being in the same locality of where the Walls and Fewells came in 1797. This Elizabeth Dearing will account for the many family names in both the Fewells and Walls line. So far I have been unable to find any trace of Anthony Dearing except the grant of land from Gov. Martin, 3rd day of November, 1784.

Ann Wall, born April 3, 1769, died September 28, 1848; married Benjamin Fewell, January 20, 1789. See Fewell data.

NOTES

Major Wall was probably the first pioneer of the family to emigrate to Missouri, locating in Tebo Township, Henry County, Mo. He built the first steam flour mill west of St. Louis, and in 1839 members of both the Wall and Fewell families and other kin and friends, to the number of one hundred and forty-four from North Carolina, moved out and located in adjoining townships of Henry and Johnson Counties, Mo. These families, consisting of Mason C. Fewell and family, Benjamin and Dr. R. Z. R. Wall and families, Wm. Howerton and family, John C. Stone and family, Absalom Potts and family, Isaac Munday and family, Sarah T. Lindsay and family, and others arrived in the neighborhood of Old Sardis Church, November 22, 1839. The church at that time being in the southeast section of Major Wall's land. Before the emigration of our clan to the west, they worshipped in Sardis Church, on land donated by Zachariah Wall, about three miles south of Madison on the Rocky Springs Road. About thirty-five years ago they built a New Sardis Church on the Old Baggage Road about two miles east of the Old Church. When our people first located in Missouri they worshipped in a log church on the above mentioned location, later they built a frame church, 1856, about one mile east of the old one costing six hundred dollars with Elders Henry Avery and James Fewell joint pastors. About 1910 a new church was built in Leeton, Mo., on lots contributed by Mrs. Linnie A. Robinson and funds largely contributed by Mrs. M. R. Millner and sister, Miss Elizabeth D. Fewell. This last church being the fifth Sardis Church that members of our family have worshipped in.

Stuart, took active part in the battles of Gettysburg, Wilderness, Cold Harbor and other engagements of less importance.

NOTES

Reuben Lindsay, son of Joshua and Amelia Lindsay, served as quartermaster in War of 1812, stationed at Norfolk, Va. Was probably the third child. His home was near Madison, N. C., consisting of 783 acres on Mayo River, sold to Samuel Smith for $6,000 by his representatives after his death.

Taylor Lindsay, the eldest child of Joshua and Amelia Lindsay, moved from North Carolina to Willson county, Tenn., and died at Lebanon, the county seat, without heirs.

John Lindsay, second child, lived and died in Rockingham county, N. C. His children: Joshua, Joseph, Penelope, Horace and Mary Frances Lindsay.

Joshua Lindsay married Elizabeth Strong: Children: Ruth, John, and Sarah Lindsay. Ruth married Alexander Moir. Children: John, Robert, Bruce and Forest Moir. Alexander Moir was a son of John Moir, who came from Scotland. John Lindsay died about 1860. Sarah Lindsay married James Hege and moved to Texas about 1871. Joshua Lindsay died and his wife, Elizabeth Wall Lindsay, married Joshua S. Smith. Nothing known of Horace and Mary Frances Lindsay. Joseph, son of John Lindsay, married Eliza Ann Ziglar, no issue. Penelope Lindsay married Robert Wall. (See Wall data.) Penelope probably named for Penelope (Smith) Strong.

Frances Lindsay, daughter of Joshua and Amelia Lindsay, married Hugh Challie Stubblefield. Children: Malinda Ann Vernon, Catherine and John Wyatt Stubblefield. Malinda A. V. Stubblefield married Daniel Guerrant. Children: Mary P., married Osborne. Hugh L., Virginia A. married Victor M. Holderby. Catherine Stubblefield married David I. Rawley. Children: Taylor Lindsay, Hugh L., James W., Rufus L., David A., and Joseph P. Rawley.

John Wyatt Stubblefield died about 21 years of age, single.

Joshua Lindsay, son of Joshua and Amelia Lindsay, can not find any record. Amelia Lindsay, daughter of Joshua and Amelia Lindsay, married John A. Patrick, two daughters married Caffees; one son, Dr. Hugh Patrick, died single.

Joshua Lindsay, the head of this family line, probably lived on Matrimony Creek, about one mile north-west of Leaksville, N. C., was a millwright, must have originally lived on the Eastern shore of Maryland, in the neighborhood of his father-in-law, Richard Vernon. It is hardly supposable that his wife's parents were living in Orange county, Va., and he in Maryland at the time of courtship and marriage. But it is impossible to ascertain what county they lived in. It is the understanding of our people that Zachariah Wall was a resident of the Eastern Shore of Maryland. The records only say "The Province of Maryland" making it very hard to locate his first home.

There are a great many descendants of the Lindsays still living in Rockingham county, N. C., probably of John's line, or of the second Joshua Lindsay.
